The world is dying.

Everyone feels it, and yet, no one knows. They said that when the end was near, a Bridge would come, and lead them out of the darkness of that dying world. Allie's life was relatively normal... Until Revik showed up.

And told her she was that Bridge. NOTE: This is a serialized novel. Trapped in Washington D.C., Allie fights to reach the telekinetic boy, Nenzi, and outmaneuver Terian, who has his own reasons for forcing the two of them together. Meanwhile, Revik, still suffering the ill-effects of a half-bond with Allie, comes after her, having allied with the rebel Salinse in an effort to break Allie out of the White House, where Terian holds her captive. Meanwhile, Cass and Balidor leave on their own errand in Asia, looking for the missing piece of a puzzle that might finally explain who Terian really is.
