

Nobody's Side Piece 4

|                          |                                 |
|--------------------------|---------------------------------|
| Pages:            | 136                             |
| Goodreads Rating: | 4.53                            |
| ASIN              | B01164SNDY                      |
| Language          | English                         |
| Author:           | Niyah Moore                     |
| Genre:            | Urban                           |
| Published:        | July 6th 2015 by Ambiance Books |

Nobody's Side Piece 4.pdf

Nobody's Side Piece 4.epub

In the final installment of this series, Princess is living out her dream, going to USC. With Jayson and Torrei out of her sight and definitely out of her mind, she pushes them to be a thing of the past. Schoolwork is the only thing she wants to focus on until her college crush, junior football player, Darreus Wood, wastes no time in getting her attention. Making new friends isn't on her priority list, but the way Darreus comes at her, has her feeling like having a new boyfriend may not be a bad idea.

With Tez back in the city, Mylah wants nothing more than to have her revenge. Adjusting as a new mother and proclaiming that she is and always will be Blaze, she has one last thing on her list that she wants to be scratched off—Tez's head on a silver platter. Her final shootout comes with repercussions that will leave the family facing financial ruin while she and Kane may be in prison for the rest of their lives. With a newfound enemy and a couple of new faces, they don't know who they can trust anymore.