The Path Between The Stars by USA Today Bestseller Claire C. Riley and Speculative Fiction Author Eli Constant.

Will love bring them together, or will the stars keep them apart? Caught in one of the freak weather changes that now frequents the landscape of the new world, Nicholas finds himself holed up in an abandoned house while he waits out the sun storm. There he finds a journal. Three years ago, a cataclysmic series of monster storms dubbed the 'Mauna Kea Event' changed the planet forever. Now Nicholas, a peacekeeper, is trying to help bring order and peace to the country, but when people have nothing left to live for, they don't want to follow the rules. In a strange mix of fate, the aged pages of the book exist as a time-loop and lifeline to the past. To Brooke.

In her house, separated by time, Nicholas will be her guide. In a world plagued by death and disaster, Brooke and Nicholas will find within each other an impossible love. And if they are to hold onto it, they must overcome adversity and transcend reality. They must travel the path between the stars. But when three years, and the near destruction of the planet separate you, is love ever really a possibility? ** Authors note** This
