After years of being one of the most affluent families in the city, the Diazes have lost everything and now struggle to make ends meet as their father's self esteem dies a slow death. Unlike her spoiled sisters, Isabella takes the changes in stride, until the day her father is given an offer she doesn't think they can afford to refuse. Her freedom in exchange for her family's renewed wealth. Rebecca Darkholm lives a cursed life, and only love can set her free. Long ago she gave up on finding that love until the day she meets Isabella, whose beauty and gentle nature capture Rebecca's heart. But when Isabella comes to stay at Darkholm Manor Rebecca fears her hideousness will be too great a barrier for even a woman like Isabella to see past. Will these two women be able to look past their inner demons or is their love doomed to tragedy?
