Zoe Callahan has a serious crush on her neighbor. But, how can they ever be together? They have nothing in common. She's a video-game-loving nerd and he's a hunka-hunka burning firefighter. To make matters worse, now there's a leggy brunette hanging around his place at all hours.

Drew Pressley adores his neighbor. He and Zoe flirt, but whenever he tries to deepen their relationship, she changes the subject or runs away—sometimes literally. Will he ever be able to let her know how he feels without resorting to the use of tranquilizer darts to keep her from fleeing? Finally, an unruly ladder and a tiny orange kitten bring their situation to a head.

Will Zoe and Drew finally be together or are they destined to be friends without benefits? It's meow or never!
