Join Paul on his move to a farm after his mother finds work in the country. There is nothing in Bolinda except a letterbox and a one room school. But he has to ride his bike and cross a busy road to get there. Maths still needs to be troubleshot but English is his strength and his teacher enriches his study. . He still reads his Kindle until it's broken. On the farm, he lives next door to his Grandad and Nan who are the parents of his mother, Ann. They have lots of equipment but his Dad doesn't want to be borrowing all the time. Paul has to help out inside and outside the house and he has little time to be meeting up with school mates. The five acres around them needs to be maintained to make it fire-safe.

Will his family and his mother's family survive a bushfire? Will Paul travel to secondary school in Sunbury or will he be home schooled? Will Lassie stop chasing the sheep that belong to Grandad?
