Selena Bancroft is in love with one man, and engaged to another. Forced to return to London society after accepting Henry Ashfield's proposal, Selena is desperate to find a cure for her broken heart—and a distraction from arduous wedding planning.

When she seeks out Silas Greene—the man whose name her dhampir beau, Gabriel, gave her before he went on the run—she finds the unthinkable. He is a vampire hunter. Determined to protect herself from the threat of Viktor Lixandriou, Selena convinces Silas to train her as a Hunter. In return, Selena is expected to join the Order of Saint Michael, a London network of vampire hunters devoted to protecting the city. As she delves further into this underground world, Selena unearths a secret about her family—and about their connection to Gabriel. With the threat of an impending vampire war and her upcoming wedding, Selena must once again choose between her duty and her happiness. In this gripping installment of The Selena Bancroft Chronicles, readers will find an exhilarating combination of romance and suspense as this vampire love story continues.
