Eric Logan is twenty-one, a senior at the Georgia Institute of Technology in Atlanta, and a geek. The one good thing in his life outside of school is his budding friendship with the charismatic Devin Hardinger. Devin invites Eric to a party at a mansion located north of Atlanta where Eric meets Elizabet, a beautiful and mysterious woman who wants Eric in her bed.

One night of passion introduces him to a whole new world of sexuality that turns everything he thought he knew about himself and reality on its head. Being with Elizabet comes at a heavy price, paid in blood, sex, and longings he's never felt before, a price Eric isn't sure he's willing to pay, even if it means holding on to her and his friendship with Devin. Author's Note: The Vampire's Pet, Episode 1: A New Life is a 15,500 word novelette, the first in a series about Eric Logan's introduction to the world of the Vampyr and the consequences of his decision to join it by becoming the vampire Elizabet's blood slave. It contains scenes of erotic romance between single and multiple partners, both male and female, and is not intended for readers under the age of 18.
