Sheep have been disappearing from the flock outside Warmbriar. There's a Stranger in town and whispers of beasts in the Bloodwood. Young Pilcrow is determined to find out what's happening. Pilcrow's search brings him from the top of sleepy Tawidge Chapel, high above town, to the crypts far underground; from cozy Warmbriar to the busy streets and university halls of Dunboven; from pastoral meadows and hills to a shadowed ravine deep in the woods. Along the way, he discovers a book—Benjamin Weatherby's Practical Bestiary—which promises to unlock the secret.

But can he trust what it says? Will he discover the truth before it's too late?
